

Every route trades one advance decision for another.
The DP replaces a finite population-K choice with alpha; its posterior cluster count is occupied K_J for the observed sample, not population K.